

Who are Friends of Drake Well, Inc.?

Friends of Drake Well, Inc. is the non-profit 501 (c)3 membership association that supports educational, interpretive, publication, and promotional programs at Drake Well Museum by raising funds through special events, grant writing, Museum Store sales, and membership fees.

Your membership provides additional staff and recruits volunteers to guide tours, develop new events, assist in the Research Library, and help manage collections. Consider the membership categories and benefits available to you and decide how you can help support Drake Well.

Why should I join Friends of Drake Well, Inc.?

Your membership supports programs and events planned and managed by Friends of Drake Well, Inc. to attract, educate, and entertain almost 50,000 visitors annually. Drake Well Museum's partnerships with local schools encourage the development of writing, research, presentation, and communication skills for students. College interns are employed each summer to guide tours, develop educational programs, assist with collections, and create exhibits.

Friends of Drake Well, Inc. publishes a quarterly newsletter, called The Barker, which keeps members informed about events, recent acquisitions, and programs at Drake Well. Friends also publishes the award winning Oilfield Journal, an annual collection of articles and research about oil industry history.
